Financial Education: Start Summer School

Just because school's out doesn't mean your kids should stop learning. This summer, teach your kids the basics of financial education starting with these topics:

Savings

Open a savings account with your children to begin educating them on the value of saving money.

Budgeting

Let them sit in on your process of putting together a monthly budget. This will help them understand how your family plans for and pays monthly expenses.

Taxes

Too few people enter adulthood not knowing how to file their taxes. If your child is old enough, don't hesitate to begin to teach them the basics of how to file income taxes or even what a W2 is.

Checking

Do you give your kids a monthly or weekly allowance? Turn that into a checking account! Teach your kids the basics of banking and maybe even start them off with a debit card.

There's much more groundwork you can begin to lay as you educate your children on the basics of finance. The important thing is that you start now to prepare them for their future.

Family Discount on Loans

When you're a part of the Member Preferred family, we want you to have the best when you're applying for your loan. That's why we're offering you this coupon for 1% off any new loan.
